

Transitioning From Disability Insurance to Paid Family Leave

CALIFORNIA
PAID FAMILY LEAVE
moments matter.

California's Paid Family Leave (PFL) program provides benefits to moms who take time off work to bond with their new child. Enjoy this time and be there for the moments that matter.

New moms who are currently receiving Disability Insurance (DI) benefits after giving birth are most likely eligible to receive PFL benefits when their DI claim ends. Learn how to easily transition from DI to PFL.

Are You Eligible?

To be eligible for PFL benefits, you must:

- Have welcomed a new child into the family in the past 12 months.
- Have paid into State Disability Insurance (noted as "CASDI" on paystubs) in the past 5 to 18 months.
- Have not used eight weeks of PFL benefits in the past 12 months.

How Do I Submit a Claim for PFL?

The Claim for Paid Family Leave (PFL) Benefits - New Mother (DE 2501FP) will be sent to you after your final DI payment. Submit the DE 2501FP to file for PFL benefits.

If you filed your DI claim by mail:

- You will be mailed a DE 2501FP form. Complete the form and mail to the Employment Development Department (EDD) for processing.

If you filed your DI claim using SDI Online (edd.ca.gov/SDI_Online):

- You will be sent a link to the DE 2501FP to your SDI Online inbox. If you file electronically, do not send in the paper form.

What's Next?

We will send you a Notice of Computation (DE 429DF) confirming we received your claim and providing your estimated weekly benefit amount. You will know we approved your claim once you receive an Electronic Benefit Payment (EBP) Notification (DE 2500E). We will contact you directly if anything is missing from your claim.
